Our Kansas corthat taking dry seasons and wet seasons, and the average failure of crops from one physical discomfort from long and cold other $100,000. winters, with their piercing winds, and from long and dry summers, with their accompanying drouths and enervating temperature. He does not advise any man who has a farm or a business in West Virginia to come West, and it is evident that if he was back again on our soil he would be apt to stay on it. He says

Our Texas friend, who went from this regard to his experiences in that State. He, too, has realized that all is not gold of the matter of health he sees in West Virginia a very enviable country as com-pared with the part of Texas where he lives. Texas, he says, is "a bad climate for people afflicted with phthisic, pulmonalis, opthalmia and many other diseases The air is terribly damp and miasmatic Those leaving West Virginia and coming to this part of Texas with a view of bettering their health and pecuniary condition make a great mistake." Further on he says: "The people here are not robust and hale like those of the high countries, but exactly the contrary, many having to leave last fall on account of bad health." He says the country has some advan tages, but they are not equal to the advan tages, after striking an average, presented by West Virginia. Therefore he thinks that West Virginia is a good country to

We sliude to these two letters because they are written in a vein and temper entitling them to respect and weight, and by persons who are not in the habit of appearing in public as correspondents. They do not emanate from played out person States of their adoption, but from those who simply express their private views in an honest and candid way, and who, al-though disappointed in their expectations, are not fault finding in regard to their ex

We have no doubt that their honestly expressed views are the views of thousands of others who have gone to the State named, and who, while realizing that they have gained nothing by the change, ar disposed like proud spirited and courageous persons to remain where they have gone, and make the most out of their

Proposed Increase of Taxation in West Virginia

The appropriation bill, as introduc into the House of Delegates on Monday provides for the payment of the interest money due the School Fund of the State on the following terms:

"To pay interest on money borrowed of the School Fund, to be paid after appro-priations made in pursuance of exist-ing laws, and before any other appropria-tions, $27,827."

This means, as we understand it, that all the general charges on the treasury amounting to about all the estimated re ceipts of the Auditor's last report, must first be paid before the interest due the School Fund is paid. This is perhaps an unavoldable necessity, and we do not de sire to refer to the language of the appro pristion in a captious spirit. It only illustrates the difficulty that besets the use of money belonging to other people. The State has had for years the ille-gitimate and unconstitutional use of a large amount of money, drawn from the School Fund to cover over deficiencies and has allowed the interest to go unpaid until it has reached too large an amount to warrant the hope of its immediate payment, unless the rate of State taxation is raised. It is proposed to raise the rate 5 cents on the $100, the idea being to add 25 general State purposes. This would provide about $60,000 more revenue than the estimate made by the Auditor. He has estimated for receipts amounting to $200 at the usual sate of the same $100. If the recommendation of the Finance Committee of the House is con-curred in (for an increase of 3 cents on the $100) the receipts will amount to $800,000 Our Democratic friends made a great add in the last canvass over the way they had managed the State-finances. The Wheeling Register published immensequantities of a special document got up to show the vast superiority of Democratic management as compared with that of the Radicals. We exposed many of the fallacies made use of by the Democratic press in propagation of this pretense of greater economy. We showed that they had raised valuations throughout the State and had increased the expenses of civil government. Their orators carefully concealed the fact that the party was doing business on borrowed money-on money diverted from the schools of the State. That painful fact now confronts them. They have run the State over head and ears 'C'Ne, 2."

They are legitimately bound to do this, for nearly the whole appropriation bill consists of expenses that are thus to accrue in the fiscal years of 1881 and 1882 We presume that they consider them-selves hard pressed in being com-Far Off Fields That Are Not Se Green as leves hard pressed in being compelled by public opinion to pro-We have recently received a couple of vide for the interest that has already letters at this office from old residents of accrued. It is an open question whether West Virginia that have been read with they will ever pay that much. They much interest—one from Kansas and the other from Texas. They go to show that by thus adding 25 per cent to the taxes much that has been written for the public of the people on the Capitol building at in regard to the inducements held out to Charleston. If they carry out this proimmigrants to these two States has been gramme, as no doubt they will, the School greatly over stated, and that many per- Fund may or may not get its $27,827 of sons have been misled to their serious interest. The farce was gone through detriment. It is an old proverb that "far with two years ago of appropriating a cer off fields look green," and that the bare tain amount of money to pay some and brown spots are not visible from a that interest, but not a dollar was paid distance. Some of the people who have and the wording of the appropriation ac left West Virginia for the two States shows that it was really not the intention named have found these bare and brown to pay a dollar of it. There is, therefore spots, and have realized after two or three at least a fair ground for suspicion that years residence, and the investment of the Democracy do not intend to come to their means in the purchase of homes, time even now in the way of a fair and that they have lost certain very decided square deal with the schools of the State, advantages in leaving this country, among Had it not been that they have been pressed on the subject since the session if any other advantages in exchange for opened, and were it not for the fact that they stand in dread of consequences respondent, who is a man of resolute in the elections of 1882, they would no spirit, and who has no notion of coming have done anything more for the schools back again to West Virginis, has found in this business than they have done for that taking dry seasons and wet seasons, years past, which means that they would cause and another, he has not realized his expectations in Kansas in a pelendorsed Edmiston's proposal for another cuniary way, and has suffered no little raid on the fund, and got away with an
